

From the community: Christopher LaPorta Named Vice President of Investments, ATG Trust Company

Posted by JENNIFER PETERSON, Community Contributor

By Community Contributor JENNIFER PETERSON

FEBRUARY 18, 2016, 10:13 PM

ATG Trust Company, a subsidiary of Attorneys' Title Guaranty Fund, Inc. (ATG®, <http://www.atgf.com/>), announces the promotion of Christopher J. LaPorta to vice president of investments. LaPorta started in the trust industry in 2005, joining ATG Trust in 2008 as a trust administrator for trusts, estates, guardianships and agency accounts.

The ATG Trust Company provides clients and their attorneys with a full range of trust services. LaPorta is responsible for the investment management process, including investment oversight for all accounts as well as the investment system's infrastructure and strategic alliances.

LaPorta has a B.A. in business administration from Beloit College in Beloit, Wis., and has earned multiple trust certifications, including Accredited Fiduciary Investment Manager (AFIM) from the Cannon Financial Institute in 2009, and Certified Trust and Financial Advisor (CTFA) from The Institute of Certified Bankers in 2012. He is currently working toward his Certified Investment Management Analyst (CIMA) designation.

In announcing the promotion, Kathryn Van Eeuwen, president and chief executive officer of ATG Trust, said, "Over his more than seven years with the firm, Chris's talent and commitment have been an integral part of ATG Trust's growth and success. His practical experience is critical to the company's development of investment solutions that meet clients' specific needs while carefully monitoring various types of risk."

LaPorta lives in Mount Prospect with his wife and son. He is a member of the Northwest Suburban Estate Planning Council and organizes and participates in golf and basketball tournaments that benefit various charitable organizations.